The main problem arises when advertisement is use to induce customers by way of unsubstantial claims, it is against their interests. Now manufactures or service providers are spending large amount of budget on marketing. Customers recommended that some regulatory authority should be there that looks into various ethical issues related to advertising. There is need of the hour that customers aware about the strength of their own.

Key Words: ethics

Introduction
The 20th Century was landmarked with the beginning of two interesting media of mass communication namely, radio, and television. Radio in India that was introduced by All India Radio (AIR) ruled the market from 1922 to 1947 but 1947 onwards television took over. The first experience of public sector advertising on television was in 1980s and went on to become the major indoor influential media of advertising. Technological advancements have changed the success of these media. Many new media like transit, online, infomercials etc. are showing up to attract the consumers.

What is Ethics
Ethics is derived from Greek word "ETHOS" which means character, norms, morals, and ideals prevailing in-group and society. Ethics examines the rational justification for our moral judgments; it studies what is morally right or wrong, just or unjust. Ethics are the set of principles, rules, standard, and values that guide actions and create a sense of responsible behavior. The Code of Business Conduct is extent through Code of Ethics for Advertising to include the way in which we approach all our advertising and marketing communications.

Ethics in Advertising
Advertisement is an important means to grow business and to reach out to larger market of consumers. Now manufactures or service providers are spending large amount of budget on marketing. The main problem arises when advertisement is use to induce customers by way of unsubstantial claims, it is against their interests. However, when advertisements are deceptive, false, or misleading then it is a question actually of ethics of manufacturers and sellers. Various companies neglect their ethical responsibility by continually producing and airing unethical advertisements.

Self Regulating Agencies for Advertising in World
The Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) initiated in agreement with the British Code of Advertising Practices for Print, Cinema, television, & radio advertising in the U.K. The ASA works independently & financed by the advertising industry. The received complaint are examined and if required, the advertisers are instructed to modify or remove the concerned advertisement. Special attention paid for kids and teenagers advertisements, products such as alcohol, slimming aids, & devices, cosmetics & hypnotherapy, etc. The following are various organizations that self regulates the advertising in different countries:-
SELF-REGULATION IN INDIA

The Advertising Club, Mumbai organized a workshop on “Code for Self-Regulation in Indian Advertising,” with the association of International Advertising Association (IAA). Professionals from various Indian Advertisers & Advertising Agencies, the World President Emeritus of the IAA and the Director General of the Advertising Standards Authority addressed the workshop. The main objectives of the workshop were:

a) To review the self-regulation on advertising in various countries with particular reference to the infrastructure as set up in the U.K.

b) To develop a code for self-regulation in advertising in India as a plan for an effective infrastructure for enforcing it.

The discussions resulted in setting up of a committee on self-regulation code in India. This was set out to ensure that the consumers are protected against unauthentic advertising and the generally accepted norms of morality are upheld.

Consequently the Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI) was set up to check down on misleading and unethical advertisements. The membership of ASCI is divided into four categories: the advertisers, the press, the advertising agencies, and the allied professions.

Advertising should be designed to conform to the laws of the country and should not offend against morality, decency, and religious susceptibilities of the people. Advertisements are termed as ethical advertisements when it contributes to a good corporate reputation, heighten morale and, thus, increases the business for the advertised product.

When dealing with public companies should follow ethical and honest procedure, if not then it can result in serious consequences. The final blame must rest with the public relation or advertising arm of any organization. They are the final filter through which information and facts flow out to the public. They are responsible for the accurate and honest reporting of information.

In June 2015, Consumer Complaints Council (CCC) under the Advertising standard council of India (ASCI) has received 148 complaints across various segments. Some of them are as follows:

Conclusion

It can be concluded that customers now a days are becoming more aware about ethical perception towards TV advertisements. TV advertisements are an important source of information for customers. TV advertisements are influencing, entertaining, convincing, and impactful and on the other hand create some confusion among the customer while choosing the product brand. Customers recommended that some regulatory authority should be there that looks into various ethical issues related to advertising. There is need of the hour that customers aware about the strength of their own.
