Received: January 26, 2019
Accepted: March 18, 2019

The researchers in the document are investigating the factors that influence the impact of a journal. They discuss the importance of peer review and the role of editors in ensuring the quality of research articles. The study highlights the need for a robust peer review process to maintain the integrity of the journal.

The researchers also emphasize the importance of indexing and abstracting services in making research accessible to a wider audience. They suggest strategies for improving these services, such as increasing the visibility of the journal and enhancing the reach of research articles through digital platforms.

The final section of the document provides recommendations for future research, including the need for more longitudinal studies and the integration of qualitative research methods.